Proves an Obstruction to Higher Prices and Tells on Speculative Temper.

lative Temper.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Higher prices of stocks had to contend to-day with larger offerings for sale than have been met with hitherto in the various stages of the upward movement. This obstate had itseffect in unsettling the market at various periods during the day, and told on the speculative temper. On the other hand, efforts to advance prices were furthered by the urgent flemand from the remnant of the outlemand from the remnant of the outlemand from the remnant of the sharp-set advances in individual stocks which were witnessed. The factors which were witnessed. The factors which were witnessed. The factors which foverned the trading were not changed in important particulars from those of the recent past. Market operations to-flay shifted rather to Southern Pacific. Time money rates were quotably firmer to-day, and foreign exchange rates receded in connection with the further engagements of gold for export. The unsettlement of the market firew perceptibly as the day progress. Base port. Total sales, par value, $4.468,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales to-day, 1,078,800 shares of stocks.

DRY GOODS MARKET. DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The dry goods market is beginning to reflect a better tone in the buying. The distribution is broadening very seriously limited. Heavy cotton goods have been quite generally reduced in value. There have been some large sales of slik piece goods from stocks in the past ten days at very low prices. Hosiery is being bought at littie more freely, and the tone in the underwear is a little improved. Altogether there is a more confident feeling in the market, although it is not yet reflected in active purchasing in any direction.

Which holds until the assembling of the keyside in 1910. The Goods within the next few days.

Writ of Error Granted.

Sitting in the Supreme Court of Augeria yosterday, Judge Keith granted a unit of error and supersedeas in the case of R. L. Peters against G. W. Lambert, although it is not yet reflected in active purchasing in any direction.

TRADE REPORT

Bradstreet's on Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:
"Little change is noted in trade con-ditions generally. Considerable filling-"Little change is noted in trade conditions generally. Considerable filling-in orders are noted in dry goods, notions and shoes. Produce is in fair demand, and prices satisfactory. Jobbers of groceries and provisions report improvement in trade. Retail trade shows slight improvement. An increase in demand for lumber is noted, especially for North Carolina pine. Tobacco is still being marketed in moderate quantities and good prices are maintained. Favorable weather conditions have existed in Virginia throughout the past week. A full acreage of cornand tobacco is expected. In North Carolina the planting of cotton continues. It is believed that the acreage of this crop will be well up to the average. Tobacco plants are reported in good condition and pientiful. There will probably be an increase in the acreage of this crop in Eastern North Carolina. Continued large shipments of strawberries and other spring vegetables to Northern markets are noted. Collections continue slow in all lines."

GUNE FISHING

Armed with rods, reels, buckets and bottler of balt, the Widewater Fishing Club of this city left over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad for Aquia Cleek early this morning, numbering about sixty strong, and though the big-mouth bass of that placid stream have been warsed in advance of the coming of the hunry ishermen, it is safe to say that when the angler arrive and cast their files it will take a rapid mathematican to score the carch.

The occasion is the fifteenth annual outing of the club, and though the harlyes about Aquia Creek smile up their sieeves when fishing is mentioned in connection with the club, they are nevertheless glad to see them, for besides potted ham and canned peaches, they bring other goods which cannot be carried in a bag. Friends of the fishermen may watch our for miny and varied stories to-night.
